

Fr Sean. (2)

I first met Fr Sean at a Prayer Group, I went especially to meet him and hear him. I was struck immediately at how prayerful he was and what a powerful witness he was to what he obviously believed.. His way of teaching and his obvious faith never lessened in all the time I knew him and my opinion of him grew.

He taught me about the Holy Spirit, something which we knew little about. He became real to me. That has grown within me as years have gone by.

The Holy Spirit has guided me to get involved in my Parish and has given me the courage to move out beyond its boundaries.

I am 79 years old now, I am slowing down, but I am still involved, I am a minister of the Eucharist and I bring the Eucharist to two parishioners.

Fr Sean was a wonderful man, very powerful in himself, his faith, his ministry and his teaching. He was inspirational and a very loving and caring man.

I was very upset to miss his Requiem Mass due to road works and late buses but I will always remember him as a lovely man, sorely missed, leaving behind him such good work. RIP
